

To the FCC,

Once again I see misguided Policrats buckling down to the Corporate Dictum. As usual misguided legislation will be railroaded at the 11th hour down the throats of ordinary citizens at the behest of Clearchannel and the other assorted lobbyists.

I feel to see why there would be ANY logical reason that a service provider such as XM radio should be blocked from providing traffic and weather for local listeners. The very reason why I listen exclusively to XM is the terrible state of radio today which has declined at the same rate the corporate radio stations have grown. Where was the regulation then? You have fostered Monopolies that have destroyed the radio I grew up with and now you want to deny me and other people that PAY now for decent programming the service of local traffic and radio, I cannot comprehend the reasoning. Can Clearchannel and others of their cookie cutter ilk be that fearful of a PAY service?

The national association of broadcasters should leave XM and Sirius alone and let them Broadcast. I have been looking forward to being able to get on the spot LOCAL traffic on my XM and am very upset at this meddling.
